ABSTRACT

A directory is presented of colleges that are legally authorized to offer and are offering at least a one-year program of college-level studies leading toward a degree. The colleges are located in the United States, American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the Pacific Trust Territories. For each college, information includes: telephone number, address, congressional district and county, the Federal Interagency Committee on Education code number, entity number, 1984 fall enrollment, date established, and 1984-1985 undergraduate tuition and fees. Also included are: data classifying the study body by sex (shown as men, women, coeducational or coordinate, i.e., separate colleges for men and women); calendar system; control or affiliation; highest level of offering; type of program; type of institution; and recognized accreditations. The following program types are covered: employment-oriented programs of at least 1 but less than 4 years beyond high school; 2 years of college work that are creditable toward the bachelor's degree; four-year teacher preparatory programs; four- or five-year baccalaureate or postbaccalaureate liberal arts and general degree programs; and professional programs. Appendices include a college index and addresses and phone numbers of statewide postsecondary education agencies and contact persons. (SW)

FOREWORD

The 1985–86 edition of the Education Directory, Colleges and Universities lists those institutions in the United States and its outlying areas that are legally authorized to offer and are offering at least a one-year program of college-level studies leading toward a degree. Specific requirements and criteria for inclusion in this directory are stated in the introduction.

The information presented for each institution includes its telephone number, address (including ZIP code), Congressional district and county in which it is located, FICE code number, entity number, date established, 1984 fall enrollment, and undergraduate tuition and fees for the 1984–85 academic year (the most recent for which data were available). Also included: data classifying the student body by sex (shown as men, women, coeducational or coordinate, i.e. separate colleges for men and women); calendar system, control or affiliation, highest level of offering, type of program, type of institution, and recognized accreditations.

This edition of the directory presents data from the Institutional Characteristics of Colleges and Universities survey for 1984–85 and accreditation information received from the various accrediting agencies prior to October 1, 1985. We regret that certain accreditation information was not updated; those accrediting bodies that did not supply current information have been identified in the directory. Further explanations of data can be found in the methodology section of the introduction.

We would like to express our appreciation to the officials of the institutions of higher education whose responses made this directory possible and to the coordination officials of the State education agencies who assisted in the data collection and the resolution of inconsistencies.

INTRODUCTION

Criteria for Listing in This Directory

This Directory lists institutions in the United States and its outlying areas (American Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands) that meet the following requirements:

(1) They are legally authorized to offer and are offering at least a 1-year program of college-level studies leading toward a degree;

(2) They have submitted the information required for listing; and

(3) They meet one of the following criteria for listing:

A. The institution is accredited at the college level by an agency that has been listed as nationally recognized by the Secretary of Education[1];

B. The institution holds preaccredited status at the college level with a designated nationally recognized accrediting agency;[2]

C. If the institution is public or nonprofit, it has qualified under the "three-institutional-certification method" established by Section 1201 (a) (5) (B) of the Higher Education Act of 1965. By this method, the Secretary of Education verifies that not fewer than three accredited college-level institutions have accepted and do accept an unaccredited institution's credits, upon transfer, as though coming from an institution accredited by a nationally recognized accrediting agency.

"College-level" means a postsecondary associate, baccalaureate, postbaccalaureate, or rabbinical education program.

Institutions listed in the Directory are asked periodically to reestablish their eligibility for listing.

Accreditation

The responsibility for the control or supervision of educational institutions in the United States is not concentrated at any single level of government or in any public or private body or agency. Varying degrees of control are exercised by each State, but institutions of higher education operate with considerable autonomy and self-governance. Therefore, U.S. educational institutions vary widely in the character and quality of their programs.

A unique feature of U.S. educational practice is the process known as accreditation, which includes self-study by an educational institution, coupled with peer evaluation of schools and programs. This process operates through nationally recognized accrediting agencies and associations and certain State bodies. These agencies have adopted criteria reflecting the qualities of a sound educational program and they have developed procedures for evaluating institutions or programs to determine whether or not they are operating at basic levels of quality. The agencies also seek to stimulate continued educational improvement to help assure that accredited status may serve as an authentic index of educational quality.

Nationally Recognized Accrediting Agencies and Associations

The U.S. Secretary of Education is required by statute to publish a list of nationally recognized accrediting agencies and associations which the Secretary has determined to be reliable authorities concerning the quality of education or training offered by educational institutions or programs. In order to carry out this recognition function, the Secretary has established criteria for listing nationally recognized accrediting agencies and associations. The Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Institutional Eligibility assists the Secretary in determining which accrediting bodies should be listed. Accrediting bodies that achieve initial recognition are reviewed at least every 4 years thereafter.

Regional Accrediting Commissions—Institutions with liberal arts and general programs and, in some cases, those with special programs may be accredited by an accrediting commission of one of six regional associations of colleges and schools. Regional accreditation applies to the entire institution. It signifies that each of the constituent parts of an institution is contributing to the achievement of the institution's objectives, although not necessarily all on the same level of quality.

The recognized regional commissions are indicated throughout this Directory by the following abbreviations:

EH	New England Association of Schools and Colleges, Commission on Institutions of Higher Education

National Institutional and Specialized Accrediting Bodies—Specialized accreditation normally applies to the evaluation of programs, departments or schools that usually are parts of a total collegiate or other postsecondary institution. The unit accredited may be as large as a college or school within a university or as small as a curriculum within a discipline. Most of the specialized accrediting agencies review units within a postsecondary institution that is accredited by one of the regional accrediting commissions. However, certain of the specialized accrediting agencies do accredit professional schools and other specialized vocational or other postsecondary institutions which are independent in their operations. Thus, a specialized or programmatic accrediting agency may also function in the capacity of an institutional accrediting agency. In addition, a number of specialized accrediting agencies accredit educational programs within non-educational settings, such as hospitals.

The National Institutional and Specialized Accrediting Bodies with an asterisk (*) preceding them, did not provide a 1985–86 updated certification of the eligibility and accreditation of institutions for inclusion in this directory.

Nationally Recognized State Agency—The following agency is listed by the U.S. Secretary of Education for its registration (accreditation) of collegiate degree-granting programs or curriculums offered by institutions of higher education.

NY	New York State Board of Regents

"3IC" indicates that the institution qualified for listing via the three-institutional certification procedure[1].

The U.S. Department of Education does not accredit, recommend, or approve any school or educational institution.

Preaccredited Status

The award of preaccreditation status to an institution or program signifies that the accrediting agency or association has determined that the institution or program is progressing toward accreditation. It does not guarantee that the educational institution or program will be accredited. Certain accrediting agencies and associations may award preaccreditation status to an institution or program that is not fully operational.

The U.S. Secretary of Education recognizes certain preaccreditation statuses established by the nationally recognized accrediting agencies and associations. In order for a preaccreditation status to be listed as recognized by the Secretary, an accrediting agency or association must demonstrate that it uses criteria and procedures for the award of preaccredited status that are appropriately related to those used for award of accreditation status.

The regional accrediting commissions listed in this Directory each award the recognized preaccreditation status of Candidate for Accreditation.

The recognized preaccreditation categories used by the New York State Board of Regents are Interim Registration and Preliminary Registration.

The national, institutional and specialized agencies use varying terminology to represent that an institution or program is preaccredited. The following is a list of the recognized preaccreditation statuses for these agencies:

Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, Inc., Engineering Technology Committee—Candidate for Accreditation (discontinued after 1983)

American Association of Bible Colleges—Candidate for Accreditation

Arrangement of Data

Institutions are listed alphabetically under the State in which they are located. A branch of an institution is listed as a separate unit following the parent institution. When there are two or more branches, each is listed alphabetically. When an institution comprises two or more campuses reporting directly to a central administration, the campuses are listed in alphabetical order. Generally, components of multi-campus institutions are subsumed under a "central office"; thus, an identification code, as well as name and address information, is provided for the institution as a whole and for the individual campuses.

Institutions that are part of a system are grouped alphabetically immediately following the name and system office information. If a system requested other than an alphabetical listing, the request was honored. For example, a system that has universities, 4-year colleges, and junior colleges may have requested an alphabetical listing within each level of offering. The name of each branch of an institution, or each institution within a system of institutions, is preceded by an asterisk (*).

In all surveys and publications related to the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS), institutional systems, multi-campus institutions, main campuses, and branch campuses are defined as follows:

Institutional System. A complex of two or more institutions of higher education, each separately organized or independently administered, under the control of a single administrative body.

Multi-Campus Institution. An organization resembling an institutional system, but clearly designed as a single institution with either of two organizational structures: (1) an institution having two or more campuses responsible to a central administration (which central administration may or may not be located on one of the administratively equal campuses) or (2) an institution having a main campus with one or more branch campuses.

Main Campus. In those institutions comprised of a main campus and one or more branch campuses, the main campus (sometimes called the parent institution) is usually the location of the core, primary, or most comprehensive program. (Unless the institution-wide or central administrative office for such institutions is reported to be at a different location, the main campus is understood to be the location of the central administrative office.)

Branch Campus. A campus of an institution of higher education that is located in a community different from that of its parent institution, that is, beyond a reasonable commuting distance from the main campus of the parent institution. To be considered a branch campus, rather than an extension center, the educational activities at the location must be organized on a relatively permanent basis (i.e., have a relatively permanent administration) and include course offerings for one or more complete college-level programs of at least 1 full year.

Explanation of Data

FICE Code Number

The Federal Interagency Committee on Education (FICE) code number is listed for each institution. This is an unstructured number used for statistical purposes that is unique to each institution. Except as indicated below, it will remain as the institutional identification number for the life of the institution. Should the institution cease to exist, the number will be inactivated.

The primary function of the FICE code number is the precise identification of a particular institution of higher education. In addition, for purposes of computer records and processing, a FICE code number is assigned to the aggregate or totality of a multi-campus institution or an institutional system. The FICE code number is known (somewhat imprecisely) as the "all-campus" number for a multi-campus institution or the "all-institution" number for an institutional system. This number permits the Center for Statistics, for analysis purposes, to code aggregate data for multi-campus institutions or systems of institutions. A list of these aggregates and their FICE code numbers are given in Appendix D.

There are apparent, but not real, exceptions to the immutability of the FICE codes. These apparent exceptions occur when institutions acquire or establish new branches, when established branches are closed or lose branch status, or when institutions are assembled into new systems. Some examples of these exceptions follow:

1. An institution has a remotely located component that for many years was not considered a branch. The insitution now accords a separate identity, as a branch, to this component. New FICE codes are given to the main campus and to the branch; the old FICE code assumes a new identity as the "all-campus" code for the total entity. In this way, the historical consistency of the statistical data filed under the old FICE code number is maximized.

2. A single institution acquires a newly developed and established branch. The old name of the institution now applies both to the old institution and to its new branch.

   The old FICE code number is now used to designate the main campus (which is actually the quantitative successor to the old institution); but new FICE code numbers are assigned to each of the following: the new branch, the central office, and the institutional "all-campus" aggregate.

3. An institution closes an established branch. The main campus, which will now be a single institution, retains its FICE code number. However, if an established branch loses branch status but is still a component, the now single-campus institution assumes the "all-campus" FICE code.

4. A previously independent institution becomes part of a newly organized system that contains a number of institutions, and the system assumes the name of the previously independent institution. If an analysis of the change demonstrates that historical consistency of statistics will not be served by preserving old FICE code numbers, some units and aggregates of this new system will receive totally new FICE codes, and the old code of the institution will not be used to identify the new system. This will appear to be a change in FICE code; actually it is not since the name now describes a new and different entity. On the other hand, if historical consistency and understanding of the data would be served by preservation of the old FICE code, it may be preserved by having it now designate that part of the system that previously had the old name.

Entity Number

The entity number is a 12-character code assigned by the Department of Education Central Registry System to identify individuals and organizational entities conducting business with the Department and for storage and retrieval of basic information which characterize these entities. It is presented in this Directory as a service to those users of the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) data who have this 12-character code as their primary identification code. It is shown as verified by the institution as part of the HEGIS Institutional Characteristics Survey. The entity number is composed of three parts. The first digit is the Identification Code Designator (ICD) prefix; for all colleges and universities it is a "1" denoting an organizational entity. The next nine digits are the Employer Identification Number (EIN). This identifies an organization by the Employer Identification Code assigned by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) or the pseudo number assigned by the Central Registry staff to an organization that does not qualify for an EIN under IRS procedures. Pseudo numbers assigned to organizations in outlying areas are permanent. The last two characters, always a letter followed by a number, form the EIN suffix that identifies a particular component of the organizational entity, e.g., branch of an institution.

Date of Establishment

The date of establishment is the year in which the institution came into existence or was chartered. In the event that an organizational change (i.e., merger with another institution) has taken place since that time, the earlier date is used.

Student Body

The sex designation for the student body of each institution or campus included in the Directory is shown as men, women, coeducational, or coordinate (separate colleges for men and women) as reported by the institution.

Several institutions, traditionally for men only or women only and so listed in the Directory, indicated on their reports that, although their enrollments were almost all of one sex, they had an open-door policy for students of either sex. A few added the phrase "on a commuting basis only." Several noted that the reported enrollment included a given number of men or women day students.

Enrollment

The total enrollment of students in each institution is given as of fall 1984. Undergraduate, graduate, first-professional, and unclassified students, both full and part time are included. Excluded are students in noncredit adult education courses; students taking courses at home by correspondence, radio, or television where the courses are not creditable toward a degree or some other formal recognition below the bachelor's degree; students enrolled only for "short courses;" auditors; students studying abroad; and students enrolled at a branch campus or extension center of an American institution in a foreign country.

The total enrollment for an institution shown in this Directory was derived from the institution's response to the survey "Fall Enrollment and Compliance Report of Institutions of Higher Education" which was conducted in fall 1984. Footnotes indicate where enrollment data were imputed by CS or where the institution did not respond.

Undergraduate Tuition and Fees

Undergraduate tuition and required fees are the actual charges reported by the colleges and universities and their branches on the survey of Institutional Characteristics for the academic year 1984–85, not including room and board charges. All fixed-sum charges, which are required of such a large proportion of all students that the student who does not pay the charge is an exception, are included. If the amount varies depending upon the class level of the student, subject-matter major, or courses taken, the typical or modal amount is estimated for charges which are required. Charges which are clearly optional are not included.

Control or Affiliation

The control or affiliation of each institution is recorded as reported by the institution. Public institutions are those under Federal, State. State-related, local, or State and local control. Private institutions are reported as independent non profit; organized as profit-making; or affiliated with a religious group. Affiliation need not imply financial support. Provision was made for reporting affiliation with 69 religious groups and an "other" category was provided for affiliation not covered by the specified groups named.

Calendar System

The calendar system on which each institution or campus operates is reported as a quarter, semester, trimester, or 4-1-4 (months) plan. Any calendar system not classifiable as one of the above is designated "other."

CS Classification Structure

In 1981, CS adopted a new system of classifying institutions according to the number and type of degrees awarded. All institutions in the HEGIS universe were assigned a code based on their response to the 1979–80 Earned Degrees survey. Each year these assignments are reviewed against the most recent degrees information.

In order for an institution to change categories, it must maintain "eligibility" for the new category for 2 consecutive years before being assigned to it. An explanation of each category follows.

General—The following categories A through AD cover institutions that grant more than 25 percent of their degrees at the baccalaureate level or above. Institutions in category E grant 75 percent or more of their awards below the baccalaureate level. Category F is for new institutions.

A. Doctoral-level Institutions—These are institutions characterized by a significant level and breadth of activity in and commitment to doctoral-level education as measured by the number of doctorate recipients and the diversity in doctoral-level program offerings. Included in this category are institutions that are not considered specialized schools (see category D below) and that grant a minimum of 30 doctoral-level degrees. These degrees must be granted in three or more doctoral-level program areas[1] or, alternatively, have an interdisciplinary program at the doctoral level. Included in the counts of doctoral degrees for classification purposes are the following first-professional degrees: M.D., D.D.S., D.O., and D.V.M. All of these are in a single program area, health professions. One other type of institution is also classified as doctoral: any institution that meets all other criteria for being so classified, except for the number of doctorates, and grants only doctorates, is classified as doctoral-level.

B. Comprehensive Institutions—These institutions are characterized by diverse postbaccalaureate programs (including first-professional), but do not engage in significant doctoral-level education. Specifically, this category includes institutions not considered specialized in which the number of doctoral-level degrees granted is less than 30 or in which fewer than 3 doctoral-level programs are offered. In addition, these institutions must grant a minimum of 30 postbaccalaureate degrees (master's, doctor, and first-professional) and either grant degrees in 3 or more postbaccalaureate programs or, alternatively, have an interdisciplinary program at the postbaccalaureate level.

C. General Baccalaureate Institutions—These institutions are characterized by their primary emphasis on general undergraduate, baccalaureate-level education. They are not significantly engaged in postbaccalaureate education. Included are institutions not considered as specialized and those in which the number of postbaccalaureate degrees granted is less than 30 or in which fewer than 3 postbaccalaureate level programs are offered and which either (a) grant baccalaureate degrees in 3 or more program areas, or (b) offer a baccalaureate program in interdisciplinary studies.

D. Specialized Institutions—These are baccalaureate or postbaccalaureate institutions characterized by a programmatic emphasis in one area (plus closely related specialties), such as business or engineering. The programmatic emphasis is measured by the percentage of degrees granted in the program area. An institution granting over 60 percent of its degrees in one program area, or granting over one-half of its degrees in one program area and granting degrees in fewer than five baccalaureate program areas, is considered to be a specialized institution. (The U.S. Service Schools are also considered specialized.)

E. 2-Year Institutions—These are institutions that confer at least 75 percent of their degrees and awards for work below the bachelor's level.

[1] Programs, or program areas, are major fields of study defined at the 2 digit level (such as 1200) of the HEGIS Taxonomy of Programs, plus closely related specialties. Subsequent references to program areas refer to this definition.

F. Institutions Newly Admitted to HEGIS—These are institutions that have been recently admitted to the Higher Education General Information Survey universe (NOT necessarily newly organized). As soon as 2 years of degree and award information becomes available to CS, these institutions will be reclassified.

Highest Level of Offering

The following categories indicate an institution's highest level of offering:

Less than 1 year—refers to programs of less than 1 year beyond 12th grade; includes institutions that do not offer an associate degree but do offer accredited college-level programs leading toward a degree.

One but less than 4 years—refers to at least 1 but less than 4 years beyond 12th grade; includes junior colleges, community colleges, technical institutes, and normal schools offering at least a 1-year program of college-level studies, either leading to an associate degree or wholly or principally creditable toward a baccalaureate degree.

Four-or-five-year baccalaureate—includes those institutions offering programs of studies leading to the customary bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree, requiring at least 4 but less than 6 years.

First-professional degree—includes those institutions that offer the academic requirements for selected professsions based on programs that require at least 2 academic years of previous college work for entrance and a total of at least 6 years of college work for completion; e.g., medicine (M.D.), law (LL.B., J.D.), theology (B.D., M.Div., Rabbi), dentistry (D.D.S.), veterinary medicine (D.V.M.), osteopathic medicine (D.O.).

Master's—includes those institutions offering the customary first graduate degree, master of arts or master of science degree in the liberal arts and sciences, or the next degree in the same field after the first-professional degree; e.g., Master of Science in Surgery (M.S. in Surgery), Master of Laws (LL.M.), and Master of Science in Dentistry (M.S.D.).

Beyond master's but less than doctorate—includes those institutions offering "postgraduate predoctoral degrees;" e.g., civil engineer, electrical engineer, specialist in education.

Doctorate—includes those institutions offering the Ph.D. or its equivalent in any field; e.g., Doctor of Education (Ed.D.), Doctor of Juridicial Science (S.J.D.), and Doctor of Public Health (D.P.H.).

Undergraduate non-degree-granting—includes those institutions offering at least 4 years of undergraduate work but not conferring a bachelor's degree. Such institutions may give diplomas, certificates of completion, or similar awards.

Graduate non-degree-granting—includes institutions offering work beyond the bachelor's level but not conferring degrees. In some instances the degrees are conferred by cooperating institutions.

Postdoctoral research only—includes institutions operating solely for the purpose of research at the postdoctoral (post-Ph.D. or equivalent) level.

Type of Program

The designations of the types of programs are explained as follows:

Terminal-occupational below bachelor's—refers to programs of at least 1 but less than 4 years beyond high school designed to provide students with knowledge and skills necessary for immediate employment but for which credits are not ordinarily acceptable toward baccalaureate degree programs.

Two-year principally bachelor's creditable—refers to the first 2 years of college work, i.e., the equivalent of the freshman and sophomore years of the lower division of a bachelor's degree program. Such a program may be general or preprofessional; it may serve as the first 2 basic years toward a bachelor's degree in a liberal arts program, in a teacher preparatory program, or in a professional program.

Liberal arts and general—refers to 4- or 5-year baccalaureate or postbaccalaureate degree programs in the liberal arts and sciences. It may also include preprofessional programs (such as prelaw, prelibrary science, presocial work, and premedicine).

Teacher preparatory programs—as used here, must be of at least 4 years duration.

Professional programs—as used here, are separate programs of at least 4 years beyond high school, outside liberal arts and organized around a professionally oriented academic discipline. Included are 4- or 5-year degree programs in agriculture, business administration, engineering, etc., as well as those programs leading to the 6-year-or-more first-professional degree defined in the section on highest level of offering.

Methodology

The request for information published in this Directory was included in the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) package mailed to institutions of higher education or to State agencies that cooperate with the Center for Statistics (CS) in data collection, in summer 1984. Copies of the form "Institutional Characteristics of Colleges and Universities" were included in the package sent to those institutions that had not been listed in the Directory in the previous year. Institutions included in the previous Directory received a computer printout of their information, with the request that it be updated for 1984–85. HEGIS survey forms "Institutional Characteristics of Colleges and Universities" were not mailed to institutions of higher education for 1985–86 because the HEGIS survey is being replaced by a new Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS). Institutional listings included in the Directory for 1985–86 are based on data derived from information that was updated from the 1984–85 survey. Schools that were new to the HEGIS universe for 1984–85 and 1985–86 are also included in the Directory based on data provided by the institutions.

The Center for Statistics has a cooperative data collection arrangement with 46 States. In 39 of these States and in the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, State officials handle mailout and data collection of all institutions; in 7 States, for selected institutions. In 2 other States, with which CS has no cooperative data collection arrangement, an extra copy of each form, to be completed and mailed to the State department of education, is included in the packages mailed to specific institutions. This cooperative arrangement reduces the number of requests for data made upon the institutions and improves the response rate for the various portions of the package. Inconsistencies in the completed reports are resolved by contacting the State coordinating officials who in turn contact the institutions when necessary.

Institutions not previously included that had applied for Directory listing and that had already filed Institutional Characteristics information were included if they were certified as eligible for listing at any time prior to the close-out of data collection. A few data items are missing for some institutions.

Each report was sent to the Office of Postsecondary Education, Division of Eligibility and Agency Evaluation (DEAE) for certification of the institution's eligibility for listing in the Directory and for verification of the accreditation reported.

Only those institutions certified by DEAE as eligible for listing (i.e., certified as meeting at least one of the criteria specified on page vii of this publication) are included.

Symbols

Used preceding any of the abbreviations for the Nationally Recognized Accrediting Agencies and Associations (see page vii), the following symbols indicate that:

The accrediting agency has stated publicly that the institution or program is provisionally accredited, accredited with some reservation, or approved on probation.

@ The institution or program has attained a preaccredited status that has been recognized by the Secretary of Education.

& The institution is covered under the regional accreditation of the parent institution.

The following symbol precedes the name of certain institutions and indicates that:

* The institution is part of a system or is a branch of an institution.

Index

All institutions of higher education included in this Directory are listed in alphabetical order in the index. Users should refer to this listing to determine if a particular institution is included. In cases of name changes or institutions which have been dropped from the universe, appropriate page references are given.
